The Clinical and Translational Science Institute at the University of California, San Francisco is a member of the Clinical and Translational Science Awards (CTSA) consortium funded through the National Center for Advancing Translational Sciences (NCATS)—grant number UL1 TR000004—at the National Institutes of Health (NIH).

UCSF is a leading university dedicated to promoting health worldwide through advanced biomedical research, graduate-level education in the life sciences and health professions, and excellence in patient care.

CTSI at UCSF
2012–2013

Supporting development of therapeutics, diagnostics, devices and digital health

CTSI Online Learning
Bringing courses in clinical research methods to students worldwide, including the UK and China

UCSF Open Proposals
Enabling transparent and collaborative proposal development

Did you know?
CTSI SUPPORTS UCSF RESEARCHERS AT EVERY STICK AND FROM ALL SCHOOLS

Supporting Clinical Research

Did you know?
CTSI SUPP...