

Seeking K Grant Writing Workshop \(KGWW\) Co-Director

The Clinical and Translational Science Institute Workforce Development program is seeking a new co-director to help lead the K Grant Writing Workshop (KGWW) for fellows and junior faculty at UCSF. Candidates should be at the Associate Professor level or higher; have had their own external K award; have had an R01 award (or equivalent) and/or have had experience as an NIH study section reviewer; and have excellent communication and writing skills.

The role consists of:

- Reviewing workshop applications for each submission cycle (three times per year) and meeting with the other co-director to choose participants, and subsequent communication with applicants.
- Facilitating one of the small groups of the workshop every submission cycle (see link above regarding the format and general scheduling of the workshop).
- Facilitation includes reviewing and commenting on materials from each participant throughout the workshop.

The position provides 10% salary effort.

Interested applicants should send the following to Madeline Mann by April 11.
